FIVE PERISHHotel in New Haven Partially

DEAD WERE EMPLOYEES

a Rope.New Haven, Conn., Nov. 12.—Five lives were lost and four persons were severely injured in a fire which burned out the follow, but, blinded by a rush of smoke and flames, he fell to the sidewalk. The four others were found in a room when the fire was extinguished. One was kneeling in prayer.The loss from fire is not great. The whole building was drenched with water.

The damage is between $30,000 and $40,000.The fire broke out shortly after one o'clock and two alarms were rung in, calling out the whole fire fighting force of the city. The fire was under control

STOPPED THE PARADE.

A Haymarket Demonstration Was Stopped in Rome Yesterday.Rome, Nov. 12.—It is the custom of the anarchists of Rome to celebrate every year on the eleventh of November the execution in 1887 of the Chicago anarchist. The date coincides with that of the anniversary of the birth of King Victor Emmanuel. This year the anarchists wanted to have a meeting and parade through the streets of the city.
This the police forbade, and yesterday 1,500 soldiers took up advantageous positions around the building where it was proposed to hold the meeting. There was no encounter with the authorities, but nevertheless 50 anarchists were arrested.
Among the prisoners are two men responsible for the attack upon Monsieur Edry Del Val last summer.

ENTERTAINED BRYANHe Favored Immediate Revision of the Tariff, Beginning With Articles in Competition With Trusts.Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12.—William Jennings Bryan was the guest of honor at a banquet on the 21st anniversary of the Jefferson club last night. Covers were laid for over 500 guests. Mr. Bryan responded to the toast "Democracy." He condemned the national incorporation of railroads as proposed by President Roosevelt, saying that such a plan was in the interests of the railroads, which desired not greater federal regulation, but escape from state regulation.He favored the enforcement of the criminal laws against the trusts, and the enactment of new laws, one of which is known as the House system, to be applied to corporations when they control as much as 25 per cent. of the total output in their respective lines. According to this system, no one corporation would be permitted to control more than 50 per cent. of the total output in their respective lines. According to this system, no one corporation would be permitted to control more than 50 per cent. of the total output in their respective lines.He favored the enforcement of the himself in favor of more stringent regulation, that regulation to take the form of legislation to ascertain the present value of the railroads to prevent the watering of stocks and to reduce rates.He argued that a reasonable rate would be one that would enable the railroads to maintain their stock at par when the road was honestly capitalized.He said the present money stringency began with speculation in New York, but that it had extended owing to the timidity of depositors. He thought that this timidity was not justified and that the banks of the west were sound. He favored legislation which by increasing the security of depositors, would remove any unreasonable fear.

overturning the buggy. Mr. Howland was caught under the vehicle but held to the reins until Shwin and the man with him got hold of the horse. He re-financial affairs, must pay not only all the cost of that litigation, but also $3,000 of the fees of the "master spy," who examined Mrs. Eddy's mental condition.

Judge Chamberlain in the Superior court today ordered the trustees of the Eddy estate to pay the master's fees, which described as "a conference of anglers" held in the museum of natural history spirit in the pursuit of fish by anglers and to influence fishermen to use tackle and methods that give the fish a "fair chance." Dr. Van Dyke spoke on "The True Sportsman's Spirit."The "true sportsman," said Dr. Van Dyke, "is a man who finds his recreation in a fair and exciting effort to get

True Sportsman's Spirit."

Goch.Pawlet, Nov. 12.—Officers in the neighboring town of Granville, N. Y., to a suit he has brought against Jack Moore for assault, attacked Moore with a knife Saturday night, inflicting a number of severe wounds.Goch encountered Moore and Owens in the Central house cafe. It is asserted that Moore upbraided Goch for bringing the suit and called him names. Owens is thought to have taken sides with Moore and a fight started. Owens was stabbed three times in the neck, necessitating seven stitches, and has other wounds in the face and right leg. It is believed that Goch left town immediately after the fight. Owens will recover.

FAVORS PARCELS POST.

Ex-Governor Bell Says That Vermont Grange Will Agitate It.Burlington, Nov. 12.—Ex-Governor C.
J. Bell of Walden, who spent Sunday in the city, left that evening for Hartford, Conn., to attend the National Grange meeting, which will be one of the largest ever held, some 3,000 candidates taking the degree. Ex-Governor Bell, who was grand master of the Vermont State Grange for many years and who was instrumental largely in bringing about the phenomenal growth of that body, says that strong action will be taken at the annual meeting here next month in favor of parcels post.The matter has been fully discussed by the Grange at its annual meetings in the past, but the time has come, in the opinion of Governor Bell, for definite action looking to Congress for the passage of a measure establishing the parcels post throughout the country. The Grange all over the United States are a unit in seeking the passage of such a law, and Mr. Bell believes opposition will come chiefly from the express companies.VIGOROUS DEFENSE BY

Miles of Barton, accused the jury until this morning when Attorney General A. C. H. Brattleboro will be present to assist State's Attorney Cooke in the prosecution.It is expected that the case will last through this week and possibly into land To-day

A MUCH-DISCUSSED POINT

Opinion Was Very Lengthy and Required One Hour in Reading by Judge Rowell—Was a Rutland County Case.Rutland, Nov. 12.—Supreme court opened here today for a special term.
Judges Rowell, Watson, Taft, Munson and Hall were on the bench. An opinion was given in the last case brought against the Rutland railroad by State's Attorney Robert A. Lawrence of this city, involving the constitutionality of the weekly payment law. The court held that the law is constitutional. The opinion was very lengthy and the reading of it by Judge Rowell required an hour.
Six cases are set for hearing. The Rutland county case of Shuma, administrator, vs. the Rutland railroad, negligence, was heard first.

EMPLOYEES OBJECTED.

To Being Paid in Checks For Railroad Services.Bennington, Nov. 12.—The 15 or 20 employees of the Chittenden division of the Rutland railroad were in continuous session yesterday on the money question. The men on the railroad branch, the majority of whom live in Chittenden, have had a little growth ever since the railroad company began paying the men on the Bennington branch every week, to comply with the weekly payment law enacted by the last legislature, and made the Chittenden men wait until the end of the month on the ground that their services were rendered in the state of New York. Some of them applied to the state's attorney requesting that he bring action as was done in Washington county, but in the mean time a test case was carried to the supreme court where it is now awaiting decision.It has been customary for the Champlain men to gather at the pay car when it appeared here each month and receive their pay in cash. The car was here Saturday and the other employees about the station received their money in cash. The men on the Bennington branch, however, were told that their money was in Chittenden. Sunday some of them took a trip down the road to get their pay to find that instead of cash they were being paid this time in checks on the Clement bank in Rutland. They brought back their checks and during the forenoon they were trying to turn them into currency.The banks would not take the checks.
One reason was that the officials of the two institutions did not care to put out cash merely to accommodate the Champlain bank which undoubtedly put out the checks to save its own cash.Another reason advanced by the bank officials for refusing to cash the checks was that the railroad company was not complying with the law in paying its employees in that manner.The men experienced some difficulty in turning the checks into money, but were assisted generally by presents them in payment for small bills and receiving the balance in money.
None of them blamed the officials of the local banks, for it was easy for the boys to comprehend that the use of the checks was merely a move on the part of the Clement bank to hang on to its cash as long as it could.

SHE SAW BURGLARS.

But Police Investigated and Found the Tracks of Milkmen.Police officer Frank Hamel was awakened from a sound slumber this morning at about five o'clock by the ringing of his telephone, and was informed by a feminine voice that burglars had entered the H. J. Smith market on North Main street, and had made their escape toward Montpelier. Mr. Hamel notified Chief Faulkner and Deputy Sheriff H. D. Camp and together they went to investigate.
But were unable to find anything that resembled a break and what the woman said with such assurance were some of the milkmen of the city on their early deliveries with lanterns.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING.

Reports J. B. Estee Just Back From an Extended Trip.J. B. Estee, second vice-president of the National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, returned this morning from an extended trip through the West and the South, during which he had opportunity to investigate the financial conditions. He thinks that the financial condition is becoming more settled, although money is still scarce. He found that Wall street was once more getting a grasp of the situation.
